AM 2020 OVERVIEW

ACCC Update on the Coronavirus

We are closely monitoring updates from local and national public health authorities regarding the situation in communities where cases of the virus have been confirmed. At present, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has deemed the health risk of coronavirus for the general American public to be low. To learn more about the coronavirus and how you can keep yourself and your family safe, visit the World Health Organization (WHO) website.

We look forward to seeing you in Washington, DC!

The ACCC 46TH ANNUAL MEETING & CANCER CENTER BUSINESS SUMMIT (AMCCBS) offers countless opportunities to innovate, collaborate, grow, and transform. Executives from across the healthcare leadership community will come together in Washington, D.C. to explore cutting-edge solutions to persistent challenges and navigate our shifting cancer care landscape.

Examining the most important topics in oncology today, AMCCBS hosts industry insiders, health policy experts, and key influencers in cancer care delivery to explore the convergence of business, policy, and technology—and how it impacts your world. Compelling keynote speakers and peer-to-peer breakout facilitators will share their expertise, effective practices, and help bridge the gap between strategic insights and tangible take-aways.
