The delivery of cancer care is evolving at such a rapid pace that it is nearly impossible to keep up. There are treatment advances, reimbursement changes, and ramifications from a pandemic that continues to require rethinking and adapting processes. There is no single best solution for implementing a strategy to address the issues that include ramping up screening, recouping financial losses, and supporting staff well-being and resilience.

Whether you work in a hospital or practice, are a consultant, or employed by a company providing products or services, it's imperative that you understand and respond to challenges the oncology community faces.

The Association of Community Cancer Centers (ACCC) is a powerful network of more than 28,000 cancer care professionals from over 1,700 oncology programs, practices, and organizations nationwide. As the leading education and advocacy organization for the cancer care community, ACCC offers the insights, connections, and resources you need to make a difference to your work in oncology.

ACCC provides practical, replicable solutions for operational and management challenges, reimbursement issues, policy and regulatory changes at the state and national levels, integrating innovative technologies and therapies, and resources for keeping up with trends in cancer care.

Our membership brings together:

- Academics and researchers
 - Allied health professionals
 - Billers and coders
 - Cancer program and practice administrators and managers

EXPERIENCE a Multidisciplinary Network

The insights and knowledge exchanged among ACCC members provide the ideas and inspiration you won't find anywhere else. Our multidisciplinary approach is reflected in content shared in virtual and in-person meetings, print publications, e-newsletters, podcasts, video interviews, eLearning programs, and webinars.

- ACCCeXchange is a dynamic members-only discussion forum where you can tap into the shared knowledge of your peers. Ask questions and gain insight from members in every discipline of oncology.
- Meetings offered in-person and on-demand provide "how-to" strategies to help address the economic burden of cancer, strengthen internal processes, and improve the patient experience.
- The bi-monthly peer-reviewed Oncology Issues journal features articles on topics such as innovative models of care delivery, new treatment modalities, clinical research in the community, and hospital and physician alignment strategies.
- The ACCC Financial Advocacy Network, online Boot Camp, and Financial Advocacy Playbook are robust resources to support financial navigation services and enhance professional development.

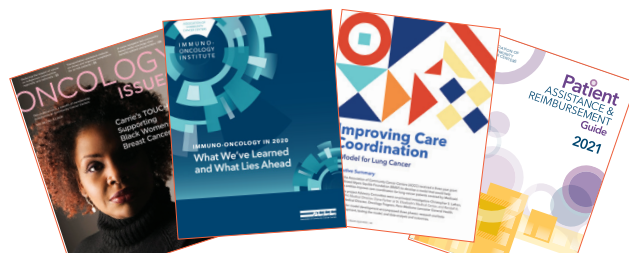

ACCC offers clinical content on precision medicine, hematology education, research and clinical trials, molecular testing, non-small cell lung cancer, ovarian cancer, biomarkers, and pharmacy dispensing models.

Our "how-to" programs delve into care coordination, quality improvement, health equity, telehealth, strategic planning, caring for older adults with cancer, AYA resources, pharmacy operations, billing and coding, and more.

EXPAND Your Business Knowledge

ACCC offers top-level approaches and practical guidance on the business side of cancer care delivery, which has never been a more critical area of focus. You'll find innovative approaches to economic and programmatic challenges with practical insights to help your organization maximize opportunities and improve its bottom line.

- The ACCC Community Oncology Research Institute (ACORI) was recently launched to help establish clinical trials as a standard of care in treatment plans and achieve equitable cancer care delivery for all patients. Through a Task Force of distinguished multidisciplinary cancer professionals, ACORI will address equity, capacity building, and research diffusion through academic and industry sponsors.
- The ACCC Annual Meeting & Cancer Center Business Summit held each spring, brings together healthcare executives, business leaders, and multidisciplinary professionals to focus on care delivery models, federal healthcare policy, payment reform, strategic planning, budgeting and contracting, and data collection. Discounts for members
- ACCC Oncology Reimbursement Meetings help members navigate changes in oncology reimbursement and regulations, gain tools to strengthen program operations, and accelerate knowledge to help weather marketplace changes. Complimentary registration for members
- The ACCC Patient Assistance & Reimbursement Guide has up-to-date information on cancer drug assistance and reimbursement programs to help patients alleviate the financial burden of treatment. A digital, searchable guide will be launched in January 2022.

NAVIGATE the Future of Oncology

ACCC provides forward-thinking approaches, access to expert analysis, and the dedicated support you need to thrive in a complex and ever-changing healthcare delivery system.

- As the precision medicine landscape evolves, ACCC is at the forefront of educating the multidisciplinary cancer community on biomarker testing and bispecific antibodies, measurable residual disease testing, integrating pathology into the cancer care team, and optimizing the delivery of cancer immunotherapies.
- By working directly with the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Innovation, ACCC advocates for improvements in value-based care delivery in oncology by elevating the patient voice and addressing cost containment without limiting access for patients.
- ACCC's practical advocacy and policy approach focuses on three key areas: Oncology Workforce, Cancer Care Delivery, and Health Policy. From the state to a national level, ACCC listens to member concerns on issues impacting oncology and represents members to federal agencies and the White House. Members receive health policy and advocacy updates through legislative updates and webinars.
- From the state to national level, ACCC lobbies on issues impacting oncology and represents members to federal agencies and the White House. Members receive breaking public policy and advocacy information through regular legislative updates and webinars.
