

The Association of Community Cancer Centers

To cite this article: (1995) The Association of Community Cancer Centers, Oncology Issues, 10:2, 27-27, DOI: 10.1080/10463356.1995.11904531

To link to this article: <https://doi.org/10.1080/10463356.1995.11904531>

Published online: 28 Sep 2017.

Submit your article to this journal ↗

Article views: 1

View related articles ↗

The Association of Community Cancer Centers

As you look for new ways to remain competitive ...as you rethink traditional strategies and systems for delivery of multidisciplinary cancer care, ACCC is here to meet your information and networking needs.

As an ACCC member, your institution will receive ACCC's national directory of cancer programs, Community Cancer Programs in the United States. An indispensable source of referrals, this 500-plus page reference provides in-depth profiles of member hospitals' services, equipment, and key personnel. As a benefit of membership, each ACCC member institution receives a full-page profile that details program size and components.

ACCC members receive Cancer DRGs, an annually updated benchmarking reference tool. In these cost-conscious times, this book allows your hospital to compare itself to the competition regarding total charges, reimbursements, costs, and profit/loss.

Reimbursement for state-of-the-art cancer care remains a major concern for institutions, practices, and the entire multidisciplinary team. ACCC Regional Reimbursement Meetings and distribution of its Manual for Oncology Reimbursement and Practice Management provide members with much needed information to better serve the cancer patient.

Members appreciate the up-to-date information regarding insurance reform, reimbursement, managed care, capitation, cancer program guidelines, and oncology economics provided via ACCC's two annual meetings and publications, including ACCC's bimonthly journal Oncology Issues and its quarterly newsletter The Compendia-Based Drug Bulletin.

There are many more benefits to ACCC membership, including the opportunity to join Special Interest Groups (SIGs), such as the Administrator, Nursing, Radiation Oncology, Medical Director, and CCOP SIGs, and working on collaborative efforts with other oncology organizations, such as ACCC's ambitious plan for the joint development of guidelines for standard patient care.

"ACCC has kept a keen eye on which direction health care is taking and it has been a great guiding light. The issues surrounding managed care have become clearer in the practice setting via the meetings that ACCC sponsors."

—Pamela Marshall, Administrator
Oncology Associates
San Diego, Calif.

"We use the DRG monograph to compare our institution with others. We have used the membership directory to contact other programs."

—Mary Goolik
Resurrection Health Care
Chicago, Ill.

The Association of Community Cancer Centers
11600 Nebel St., Suite 201
Rockville, MD 20852

(301) 984-9496

Call for information on how you can become an ACCC member!

Join today!

"ACCC gets an A+++ for help in passing off-label chemotherapy laws in North Carolina for oncology patients."

—Dudley B. Anderson, MD
Wilson, N.C.

"ACCC continues to provide current, accurate information as it relates to oncology through ACCC publications, thus keeping community clinical oncology programs aware of current issues."

—Diana Nielsen, RN
Archbishop Bergan Mercy
Medical Center
Omaha, Nebr.

"Great networking!"

—Susan Dimpfel, System Service Line Director
Samaritan Health System
Phoenix, Ariz.

Be prepared to meet the challenges and opportunities that come with the rapidly changing world of mergers, integration, alliances, capitated payment systems, and institutional downsizing. Don't delay. Call ACCC Membership at (301) 984-9496 for membership information.