

Thank you for your interest in ICLIO Grand Rounds, a personalized learning initiative conducted by the Institute for Clinical Immuno-Oncology (ICLIO), an institute of the Association of Community Cancer Centers (ACCC).

ICLIO Grand Rounds will provide evidence-based information on the latest developments in the use of cancer immunotherapy and effective management of associated immune-related adverse events. Led by an ICLIO expert, the Grand Rounds will be held on site at your institution. The ICLIO Grand Rounds program aims to assist clinicians in their everyday decision-making regarding difficult, real-world cases when treating patients with immuno-oncology agents.

To be considered for this opportunity, your institution must meet all of the following criteria:

- Be a current ACCC Cancer Program Member.
- Identify and assign a point of contact (POC) to coordinate plans with the ICLIO Grand Rounds project team.
- Have already established—or be in the early stages of implementing—an immuno-oncology (I-O) program, and be willing to discuss your I-O program practices with ACCC and ICLIO.
- Have plans to expand your immuno-oncology program over the next two years.
- Have a commitment from at least 5-10 key oncology professionals who will participate in the ICLIO Grand Rounds program.
- If the 90-minute case-based tumor board discussion format is selected, must be willing to discuss de-identified cases with ACCC and ICLIO and have commitment from 1 clinician to submit an I-O case for discussion.
- If the 60-minute ICLIO Expert-led format is selected, must have commitment from 1 clinician to submit an I-O case for discussion.
- Complete this Grand Round application form.
- Provide permission for ACCC and ICLIO to publish key findings and outcomes from the ICLIO Grand Rounds on their respective websites and print publications, including but not limited to publication in white papers, social media posts, webinars, blogs, newsletters, and live education conferences.

To be considered for this opportunity, please submit this application by May 19, 2017, to Brissan Guardado via email to bguardado@acc-cancer.org.
