Multidisciplinary Clinics: Centered Around Each Patient

If you look at a list of must-haves for a high-quality patient experience, MaineGeneral's Harold Alfond Center for Cancer Care (HACCC) delivers! We offer access to:

- ✓ A talented range of specialists, all in one place
- ✓ Quick appointments, normally within one week of referral
- ✓ Staff and providers who consistently score in the top tier nationally for patient satisfaction
- ✓ Support staff including point-of-entry patient navigators, a registered dietitian, care managers, financial counselors, spiritual care and oncology rehabilitation services
- ✓ On-site testing, treatment and ongoing care
- ✓ American Cancer Society Patient Navigator & Cancer Resource Center
- ✓ Beautiful setting with garden walkways

Our Multidisciplinary Clinics are a model for true coordination and collaboration in delivering the best in cancer care. At each clinic, physician specialists evaluate the individual patient's health information and test results from referring primary care or other providers. We take into account each person's unique needs and preferences to determine the best plan of care moving forward. Most importantly, our specialists talk together in real time about each patient's needs and how they can work together to provide the best and most coordinated care.

Here at the HACCC, our patients also can be confident that support services such as nutrition counseling, oncology rehabilitation, social work, financial counseling, patient navigation services and an American Cancer Society Resource Library are right here whenever they may need them.

The HACCC is certified for excellence by the American Society of Clinical Oncology's Quality Oncology Practice Initiative (QOPI).

To make a referral to one of our clinics, call 621-6118.

We pride ourselves on working in partnership with our referring providers and their office staff to make the referral process — and communication among care providers — as efficient and effective as possible.
